"The RIDING MASTER"

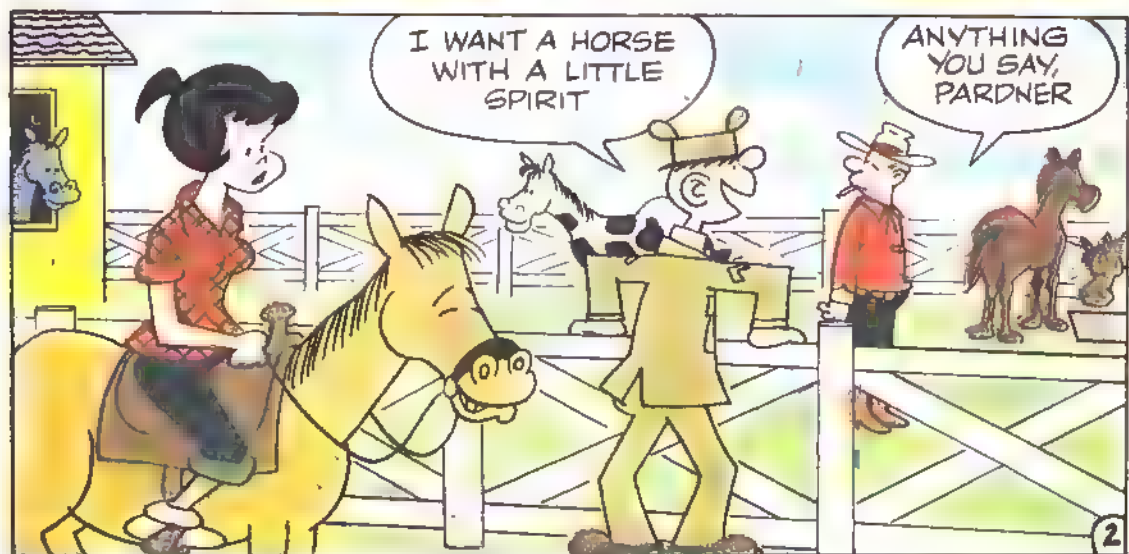

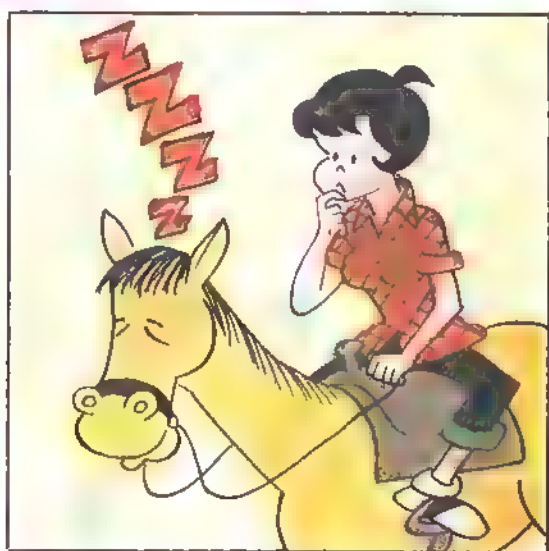

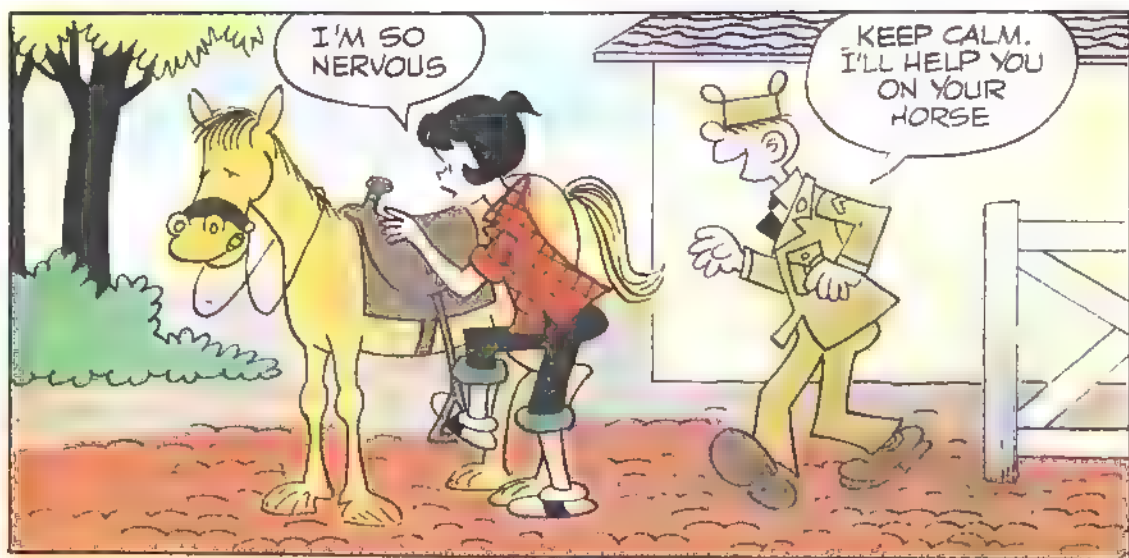

IT'S GREAT! YOU GALLOP OVER HILLS AND MEADOWS, SPEEDING ALONG WITH THE WIND IN YOUR FACE ON THE BACK OF A SPIRITED ANIMAL

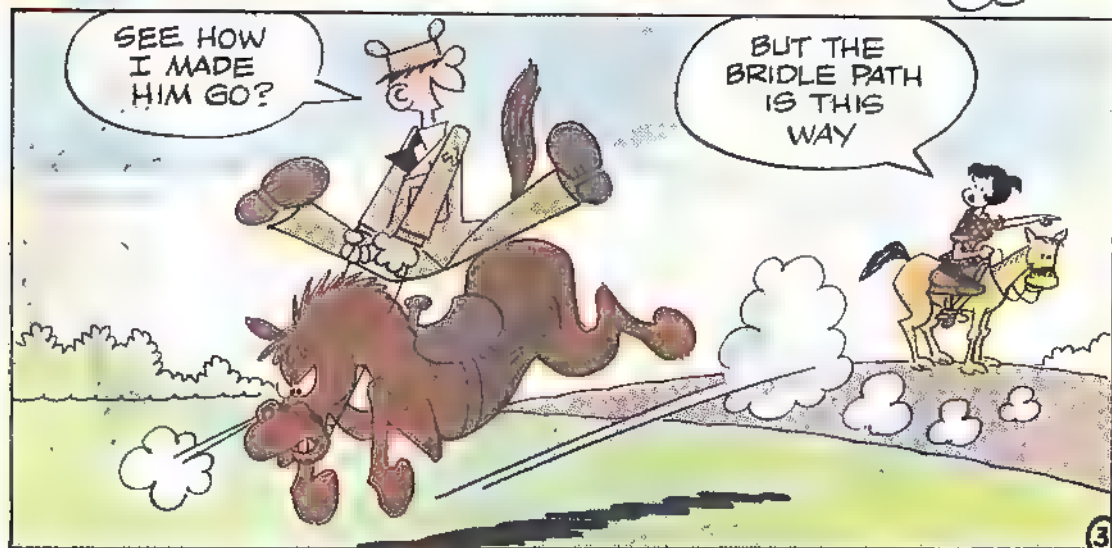

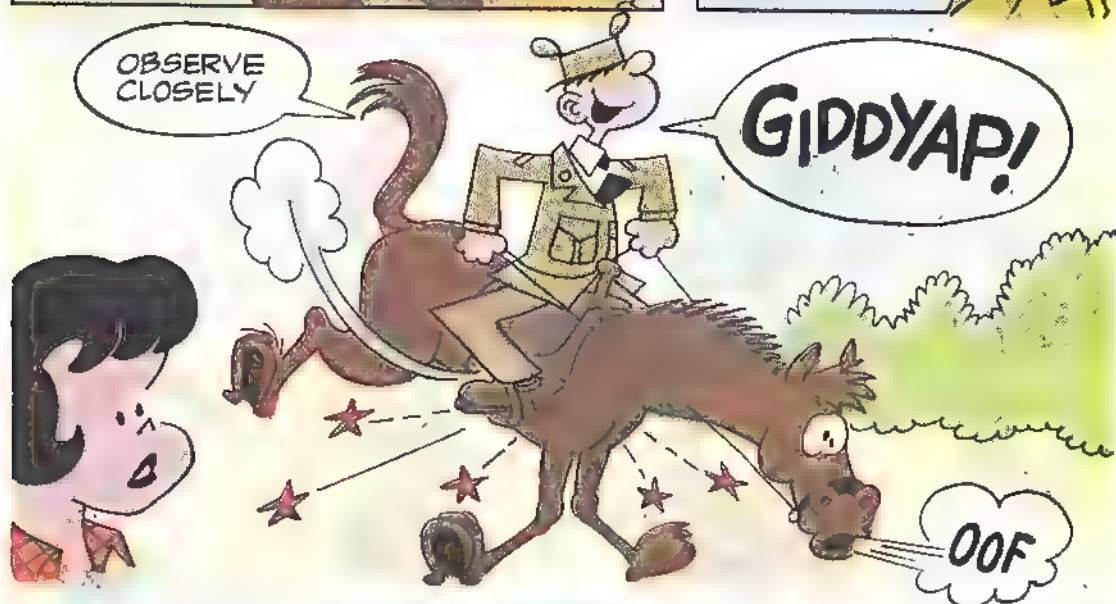

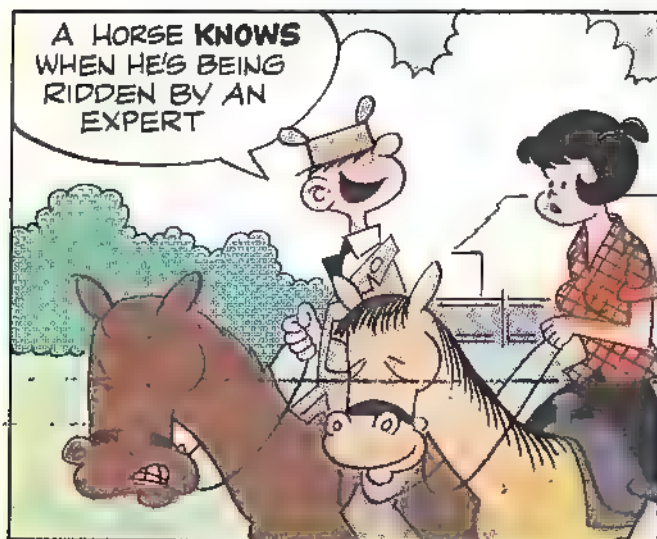

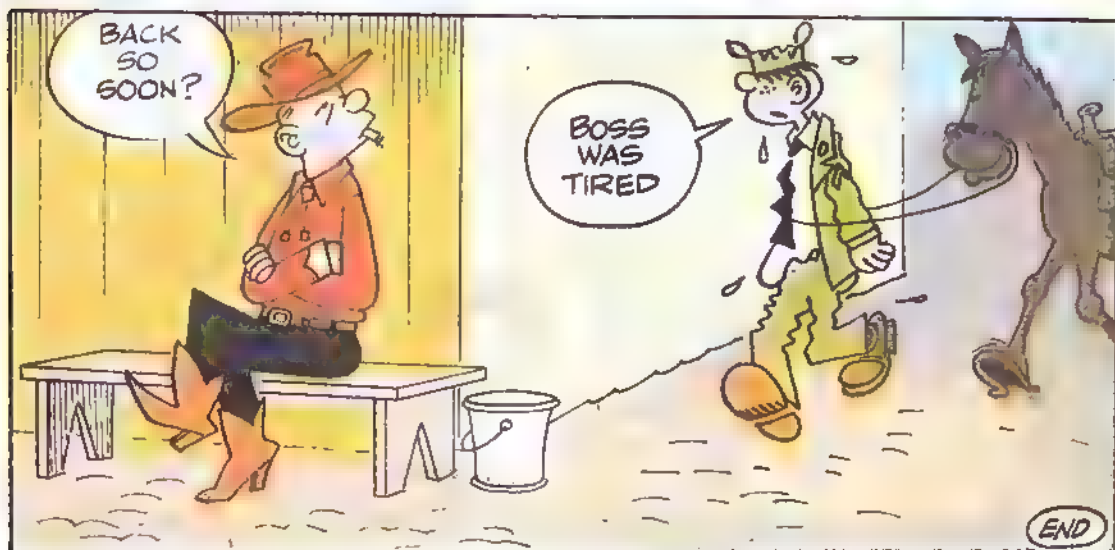

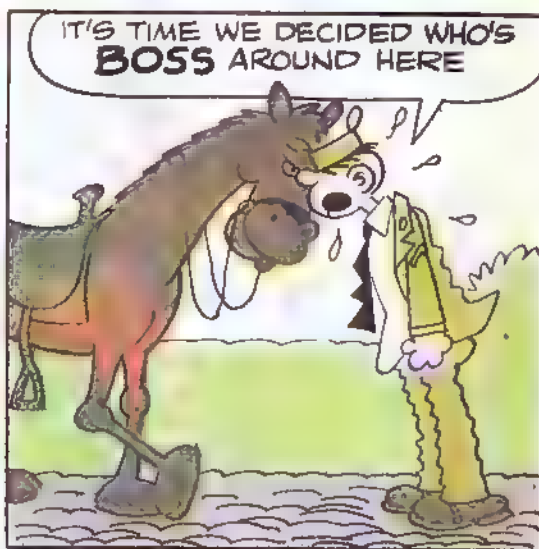

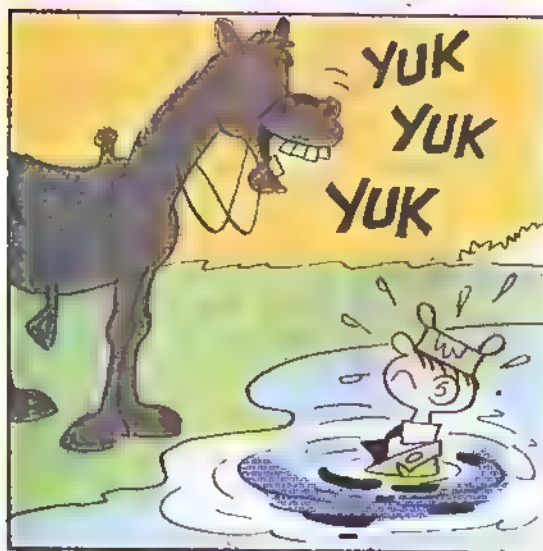

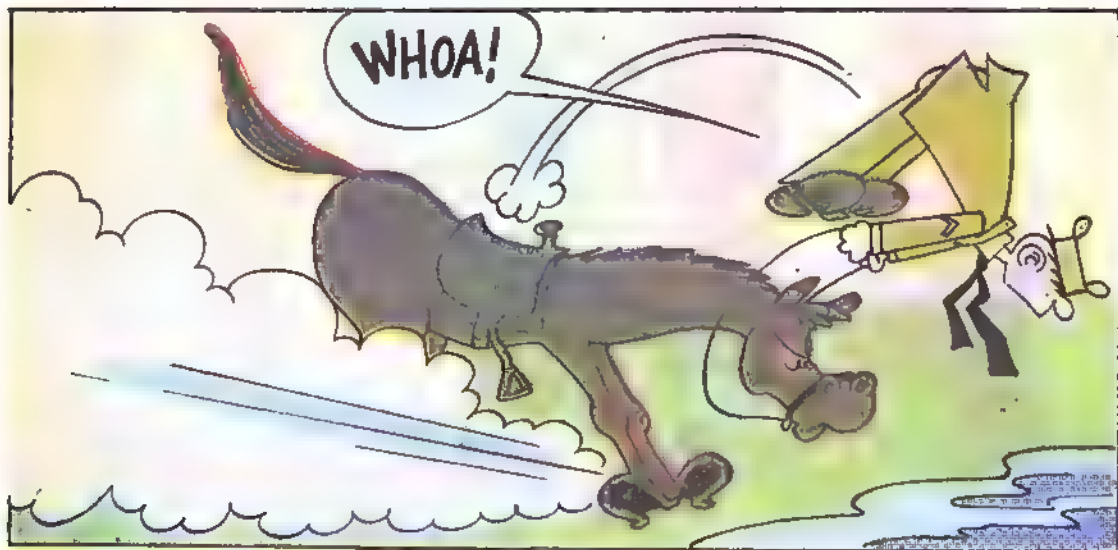

I HOPE I CAN STAY ON THE HORSE

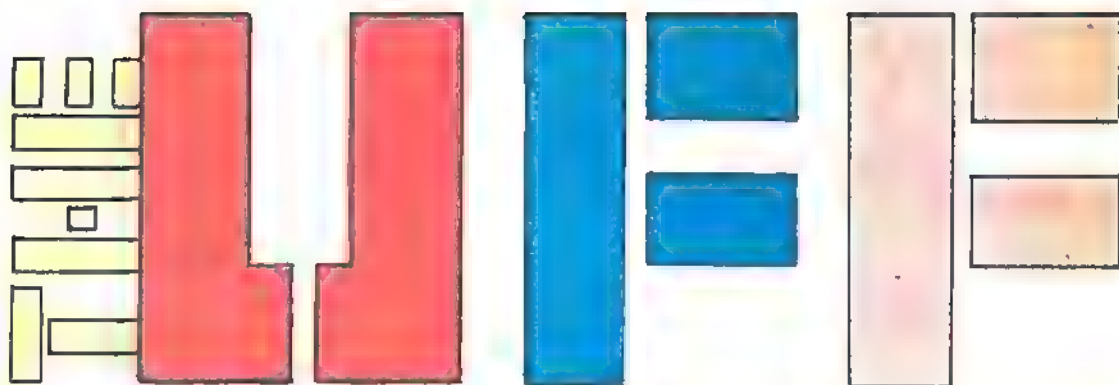

IT'S EASY. THERE'S NOTHING TO IT!

I have been told that I am the most famous and most efficient organizer in the entire world. I was the person who organized the clam diggers of Uganias. Reduced their working day of 22 hours to 12 and raised their pay per hours from 15 to 17 medas. And as you probably know, I also organized the camel shoers in the Dachlini Desert Area. The most dangerous work in the world and also before I came in, the most underpaid. If you doubt me, you try to re-shoe the camel's left foot. Those men are still thankful because of what I did for them.

No small wonder that I was asked to organize the fighting men of our country. I immediately applied for a charter: "Union of Fighting Forces." Better known as "UFF." I want to make it publicly known that this task on my part was only the calling of civic duty. Since the courts have upheld the check-off, all I suggested is that every man wearing a uniform-regardless of make of uniform; its color; rank; or condition-just have $1.00 each month taken from his base pay. A board of trustees will be appointed by myself to administer the money. For such a small sum here is what I have to offer.

1. An entire change in the way our fighting men are paid. At present it is based on rank. As you go up higher, you get more pay. In mathematical terms: Pay is in direct proportion to rank. But what do statistics show? Namely, that death and injuries in war, are highest for the men in the lowest rank. Whether you be an enlisted man or a draftee at present, the odds are against you. Therefore we will reverse matters. The men in the lowest rank get the highest pay. I realize that because under this situation, the military budget of a country will be 99.96% of its income, there may be a tendency for the doves to win over the hawks.

2. Individuality both in clothing and in person is to be accorded to every fighting man. It is no pleasant sight to see ten thousand fighting men all lined up and every one looks exactly the same as the man next to him. From now on, a fighting man may design his own uniform. And he may shave his head bald or wear his hair down to the waist line. He may be clean shaven or raise hair all over his face and neck. So that when we line up ten thousand of these brave men for inspection, each will be different than the man next of him. And inspection will always consist of the following: "My oh my, how nice you look in that creation. Did you design it yourself? Who tailored it for you? My compliments of the day to you." It should be evident that this will do very much to raise the morale of our men.

3. There is a definite tendency to a shorter working day. Why should soldiers be forced to fight all day long? And seven days a week? With no overtime pay! From now on the work day or fighting day will be only 6 hours and five minutes. Next year it will go down to 5 hours and 4 minutes. And the following year we will have the standard army day of 4 hours and 3 minutes. No work or fighting on Saturdays, Sundays, or holidays. Only in an emergency, with the consent of the men concerned, can the day be extended by not more than one hour. This means triple pay for the overtime.

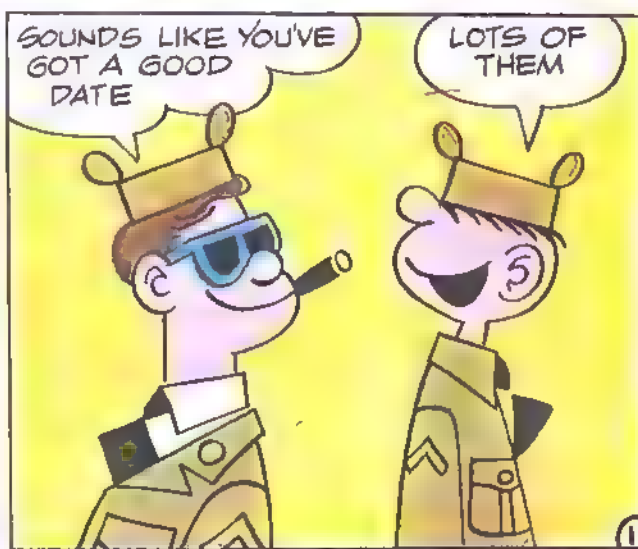

4. In any potential war or battle, the fighting men will take a vote: To fight or not to fight? They will talk it over with fighting men from the other side. Should both sides agree to fight, there will be a clear statement of the issues. And they must agree about what they are fighting for-otherwise they will not fight. In a disagreement, the issues can be put to the United Board of Arbitration.

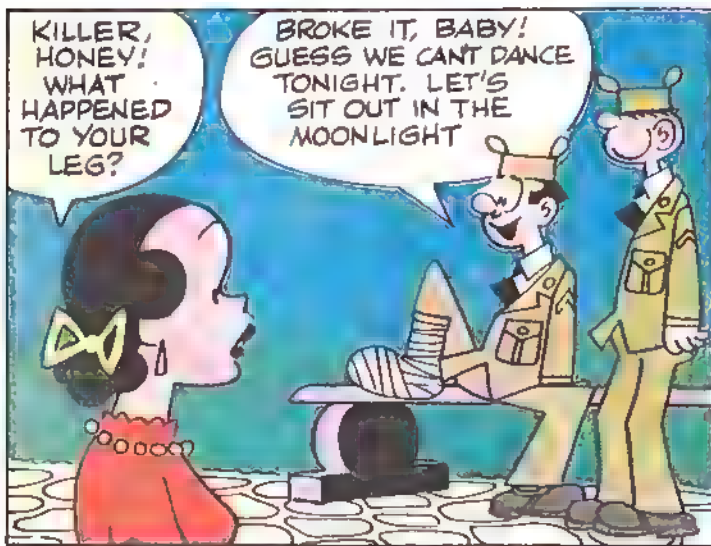

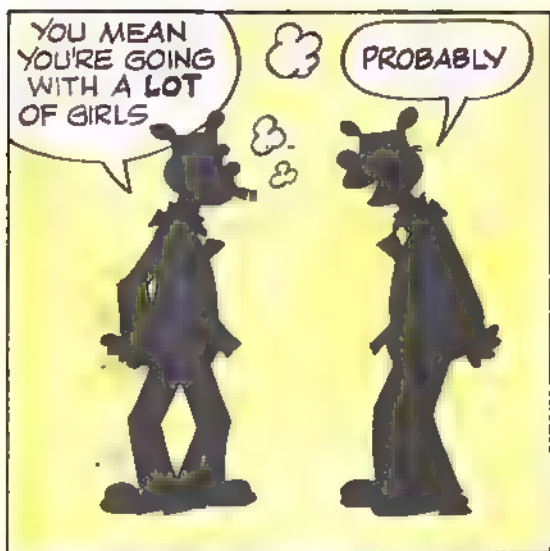

5. One great source of dissatisfaction has been with the food served. We have many great catering firms in this country. The time has come to permit them to prepare the food for our hungry men. Only they know how to make a roast beef that is rare and tender. Or how to charcoal broil a steak. And with their tidbits of caviar, cheese, and herrings-our men will want to eat more and more. In fact, once a month, they should be permitted to invite the enemy over for our meals. Any enemy soldier who then decides to come over to our side, gets free meal tickets for the next ten years.

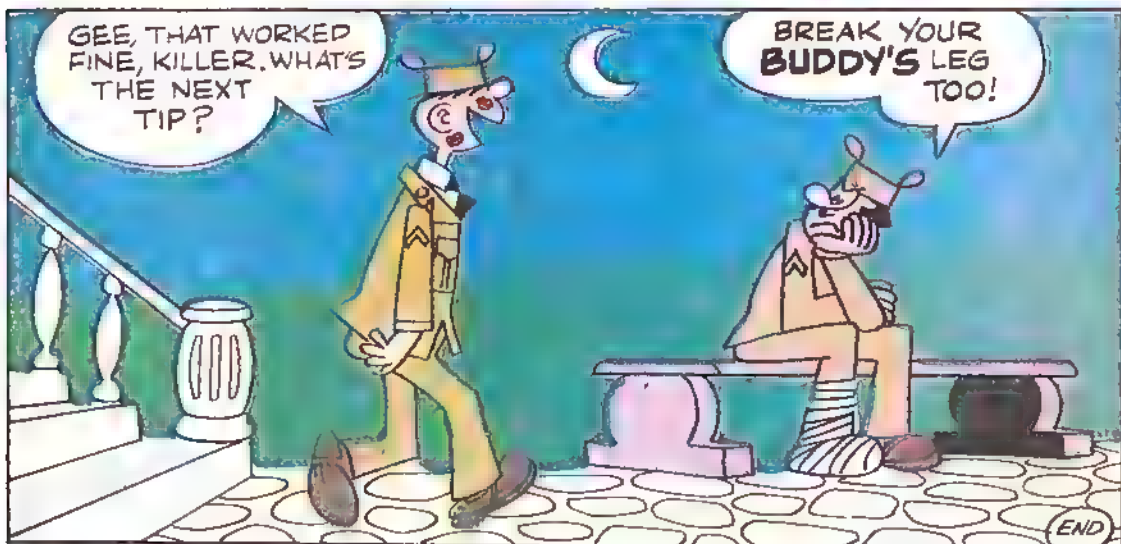

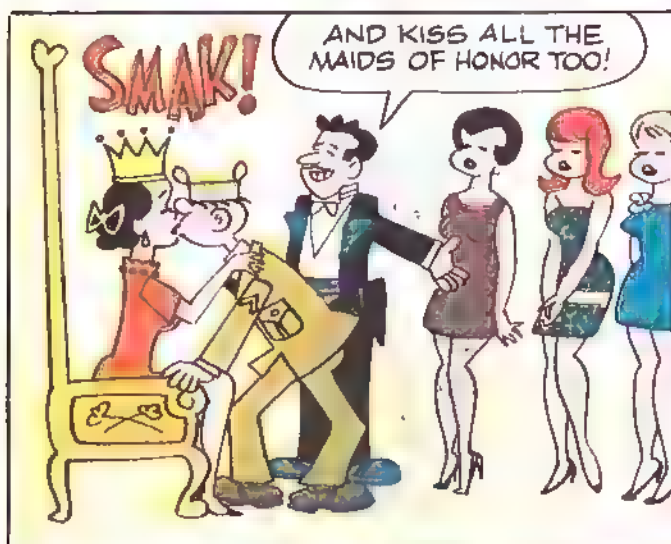

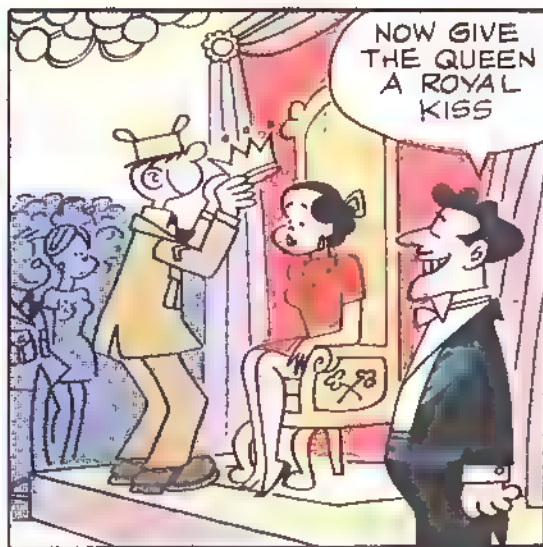

6. We will have monthly meetings of our soldiers to listen to their gripes. And also to adjust matters within twenty-five hours. Thus they will all feel this is an army worth while joining and we will not need the draft.
